SPARTAN

SPARTAX 155

Spartax 155 is a lightweight performance fabric [a polyester eyelet construction with mechanically engineered two-way stretch] which creates garments that are comfortable to wear and which actually work with your body to improve your overall physical performance.

It's therefore perfect for venting side panels and semi-form fitting garments [designed primarily for spring-summer use].

Key performance features:

- Comfortable
- Lightweight
- Breathable
- Wickable
- Fast-drying
- Durable

Summary

The SEVERN Elite Zephyr combines an athletic fit with a performance fabric to help improve upon the functional effectiveness of a classic rowing garment. Designed for spring-summer racing, it can either be worn as a base layer [directly against the skin] or with a form-fitting top underneath. It's cut also makes it suitable for a wide range of different athletes.

Key design features:

Comfortable Meryl® neck, placket and sleeve trim

Comfortable set-in sleeve allows unrestricted movement

Easy-to-use dual pop fasteners

Semi-form fitting body profile helps to maximise the performance benefits of the technical fabric and minimise the chances of 'snagging' at the end of the stroke.

Technical Spartax 155 fabric aids performance
